

Advantage Software agrees to provide up to two free years of Eclipse Student software and Anytime Support to court reporting students who complete the NCRA A to Z program. Only active students or soon-to-be active court reporting students are eligible. The free Eclipse Student software and Anytime Support are available for two consecutive years. The years must be consecutive. The Eclipse Student software license is activated for one year at a time. To activate the first year license, the student must simply contact the Advantage Software Account Services team and provide an NCRA A to Z certificate of completion as well as proof of enrollment at a recognized court reporting program. The license and Anytime Support will be activated for one year, and set to expire one year from the date of activation. To keep the license and Anytime Support for a second year, before expiration the student must simply contact the Account Services team and show proof of enrollment for the following academic year. Student failure to provide timely proof of enrollment could result in the license and Anytime Support being expired one year from the original date of activation. The free Eclipse Student software and Anytime Support are non-transferable. After the free two-year period, the student may continue to use Eclipse Student software and Anytime Support by choosing from the then-available options.
